In the first place permit me to say that your paper makes its welcome visits regularly once a week, bringing to as matters of interest with each your paper as one of our most valuable periadicals, and since it has been made the official organ for the Grange of this State, it is doubtless interesting to the farmer.

The farming interest at this season of the year, enproses the entire attention of the citizens of the locality and this bids fair to be a season of anismal interest. Notwithstanding the backward Spring, owing to the continual wet weather, there seems to be a greater spirit of enterprise among the farmers than I have ever before noticed; and one marked feature is a disposition manifested by many every one to diversify their crops and instead of planting a "little corn and good deal of cotton," as has been common farming free, barly, millett, Hungarian grass, potatoes, and many other smaller crops and reducing the amount of cotton. Last season convinced the most of our farmers that large crope, poorly cultivated, does not pay, and they seem determined this season to plant no more than they can cultivate well.

Besides we see on almost every farm the fences moved out, and repaired, farmshing better protection to the crop and more land to cultivate, and en nearly every large farm cultivated entirely by renters, the landlords have erected good and substantial buildings for their tenants, rendering that class of individuals more comfortable and enabling themselves to procure the best class of more comfortable and enabling them-salves to produre the best class of renters that come to our country. This I regard as one of the best evi-dences of the prosperity of our coun-

The searcity of money and the high prices of provisions will make the present season a hard struggle for those who are not already provided with their supplies, but all seem determined to "face the music," and struggle the harder, which will certainly win in the end certail / win in the end.

We have a good school in our lit-tle village, under the public free school system, but we find in the practical working of the present sys-tem, some defects which we hope will be remedied by the present Legislas

We also have a "Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry" organized, that bids fair to be a prosperous one. Many of the most worthy and substantial farmers in our midst are already members, and several petitions now waiting to be acted upon. Although we have not received our Dispensation from the National Grange, and are not prepared to do any work, still we hold regular meetings once in two weeks, and spend a pleasant hour secund the social circle, united as a band of brothers in our common interest. We also have a "Grange of the
